Mr. Washburne said that his proposition would give thirty millions of dollars.

It was agreed to by 73 against 29.

The Chairman (Mr Fenton) then stated the question on the amendment of Mr. Davis as thus amended.

Mr. Washburne said it was not his intention to amend the amendment of Mr. Davis, but to present a distinct proposition.

The CHAIMAN said it could only be offered as an amendment to the amendment.

These amendments were jointly rejected by 47 against tion being three instead of ten per centum on bank circulation.

The proposition of Mr. Davis was rejected, and that of Mr. Washburne was adopted by Yeas 59, Naya 49.

Mr. Ganson (N. Y.) moved an amendment, reviving the provision to tax real estate.

This was rejected.

An amendment was then adopted taxing incomes over $30,000 per annum ten per centum.

Mr. Cox moved to strike out the enacting clause, his declared object being to kill the bill.

The question was decided in the negative by 48 against 56.

The Committee here rose and reported the bill to the House with the various amendments.

There was seemingly no end to the barrels of produce as cart after cart came up and landed its load on the pier. The transport sailed on Saturday afternoon for City Point, arriving there to day, if possible, in time for the gallant recipients to enjoy a luxurious dinner from her cargo. The following is a list of the articles placed on board: 400 barrels of onions, 300 barrels of turnips, 21 barrels of beets, 50 boxes of lemons, and from 7,000 to 10,000 heads of cabbage. These articles are sent by the Onion Fund Committee. Also, 336 barrels of onions and 400 barrels of potatoes sent by the Senitary Come mission. RECONSTRUCTION OF THE REBEL STATES.

A message was received from the Senate stating that they had passed the House bill, without amendment, providing for a republican form of government in the States overthrown by the Rebellion.

The Question was beened and reported the bill to the House with the various amendments.

Mr. Morrill reported as a substitute the bill as originally reported by him. He exhorted every member who desired the passage of an act which would fidd something to the revenue, to vote for the substitute pure and simple. He was assured that a tax on spirits on hand stood no possible chance of success in the Senate. The amendment making a discrimination upon incomes over $20,000, was wrong. It was actually punishing a man for having such am amount of income. In a republishing actual was actually punishing a man for having such am amount of income. In a republishing because the substitute should not be adopted he had no further interest in the bill, and should vote to defeat it.

Mr. Washburns, from the Committee of Conference on the bill to encourage emigration, made a report thereon, which was concurred in.

The previous question was then ordered on the bill of Mr. Morrill and the amendments.

The amendment fixing a discriminating tax on incomes was rejected.

The question was then taken on the amendment of Mr. Washburne, to tax whisky on hand, and it was agreed to by Yeas 50, Nays 47.

The House then voted on and rejected the substitute, by Yeas 51, Nays 59.
